

The debates that appear in this book were originally published in NATO Review, the Alliance's quarterly electronic magazine on current policy issues. NATO Review is published under the authority of the NATO Secretary General and intended to contribute to a constructive discussion of Atlantic issues. The views expressed do not necessarily represent official opinion or policy of member governments or NATO. Debates may be reproduced in full or in part, without further permission, provided mention is made of the title, author and publisher. NATO Review is published in the languages of NATO member countries as well as in Russian, Ukrainian, and as of 2006 in Arabic and Hebrew. It may be consulted via the NATO website at www.nato.int/docu/review.htm.

© NATO 2006

Every mention in this publication of the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia is marked by an asterisk (*). This refers to the following footnote: Turkey recognises the Republic of Macedonia with its constitutional name.