

Data Mining: Opportunities and Challenges

Table of Contents

Preface	vii
John Wang, Montclair State University, USA
Chapter I
A Survey of Bayesian Data Mining	1
Stefan Arnborg, Royal Institute of Technology and Swedish Institute of Computer Science, Sweden
Chapter II
Control of Inductive Bias in Supervised Learning Using Evolutionary Computation: A Wrapper-Based Approach	27
William H. Hsu, Kansas State University, USA
Chapter III
Cooperative Learning and Virtual Reality-Based Visualization for Data Mining	55
Herna Viktor, University of Ottawa, Canada
Eric Paquet, National Research Council, Canada
Gys le Roux, University of Pretoria, South Africa
Chapter IV
Feature Selection in Data Mining	80
YongSeog Kim, University of Iowa, USA
W. Nick Street, University of Iowa, USA
Filippo Menczer, University of Iowa, USA
Chapter V
Parallel and Distributed Data Mining through Parallel Skeletons and Distributed Objects	106
Massimo Coppola, University of Pisa, Italy
Marco Vanneschi, University of Pisa, Italy
Chapter VI
Data Mining Based on Rough Sets	142
Jerzy W. Grzymala-Busse, University of Kansas, USA
Wojciech Ziarko, University of Regina, Canada

Chapter VII

The Impact of Missing Data on Data Mining 174

Marvin L. Brown, Hawaii Pacific University, USA

John F. Kros, East Carolina University, USA

Chapter VIII

Mining Text Documents for Thematic Hierarchies Using Self-Organizing Maps . 199

Hsin-Chang Yang, Chang Jung University, Taiwan

Chung-Hong Lee, Chang Jung University, Taiwan

Chapter IX

The Pitfalls of Knowledge Discovery in Databases and Data Mining 220

John Wang, Montclair State University, USA

Alan Oppenheim, Montclair State University, USA

Chapter X

Maximum Performance Efficiency Approaches for Estimating Best Practice

Costs 239

Marvin D. Troutt, Kent State University, USA

Donald W. Gribbin, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, USA

Murali S. Shanker, Kent State University, USA

Aimao Zhang, Georgia Southern University, USA

Chapter XI

Bayesian Data Mining and Knowledge Discovery 260

Eitel J. M. Lauria, State University of New York, Albany, USA, Universidad del Salvador, Argentina

Giri Kumar Tayi, State University of New York, Albany, USA

Chapter XII

Mining Free Text for Structure 278

Vladimir A. Kulyukin, Utah State University, USA

Robin Burke, DePaul University, USA

Chapter XIII

Query-By-Structure Approach for the Web 301

Michael Johnson, Madonna University, USA

Farshad Fotouhi, Wayne State University, USA

Sorin Draghici, Wayne State University, USA

Chapter XIV

Financial Benchmarking Using Self-Organizing Maps—Studying the International

Pulp and Paper Industry 323

Tomas Eklund, Turku Centre for Computer Science, Finland

Barbro Back, Åbo Akademi University, Finland

Hannu Vanharanta, Pori School of Technology and Economics, Finland

Ari Visa, Tampere University of Technology, Finland

Chapter XV
Data Mining in Health Care Applications	350
Fay Cobb Payton, North Carolina State University, USA
Chapter XVI
Data Mining for Human Resource Information Systems	366
Lori K. Long, Kent State University, USA
Marvin D. Troutt, Kent State University, USA
Chapter XVII
Data Mining in Information Technology and Banking Performance	382
Yao Chen, University of Massachusetts at Lowell, USA
Joe Zhu, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, USA
Chapter XVIII
Social, Ethical and Legal Issues of Data Mining	395
Jack S. Cook, Rochester Institute of Technology, USA
Laura L. Cook, State University of New York at Geneseo, USA
Chapter XIX
Data Mining in Designing an Agent-Based DSS	421
Christian Böhm, GIDSATD–UTN–FRSF, Argentina
María Rosa Galli, GIDSATD–UTN–FRSF and INGAR–CONICET, Argentina
Omar Chiotti, GIDSATD–UTN–FRSF and INGAR–CONICET, Argentina
Chapter XX
Critical and Future Trends in Data Mining: A Review of Key Data Mining Technologies/Applications	437
Jeffrey Hsu, Fairleigh Dickinson University, USA
About the Authors	453
Index	462
