Qualitative Case Studies on Implementation of Enterprise Wide Systems

Table of Contents

SECTION I: ERP IMPLEMENTATION APPROACHES

Chapter I. Socio-Technical Aspects of ERP Implementation: The Central Role of Communication 1
Dov Te'eni, Tel-Aviv University, Israel

Chapter II. Post-Implementation Use of a Complex Technology: The Case of a Southeastern U.S. University 22
Marie-Claude Boudreau, University of Georgia, Terry School of Business, USA

Chapter III. Understanding an ERP System Implementation in a Higher Education Institution: A Grounded Theory Approach 40
Jose Esteves, Universitat Politecnica de Catalunya, Barcelona, Spain
Joan Pastor, Universitat Internacional de Catalunya, Barcelona, Spain

Chapter IV. ERP and New Organizational Capabilities: The Example of the Kentucky Community and Technical College System 57
Roy Tapp, Kentucky Community and Technical College System, USA
Jon Hesseldenz, Kentucky Community and Technical College System, USA
Linda Morefield, Kentucky Community and Technical College System, USA
George Kelley, University of Cincinnati, USA

Chapter V. Technology Innovation in a Small Rural Hospital 71
Sheila K. McGinnis, Idaho State University, USA
Carla Wiggins, Idaho State University, USA
Kenneth Trimmer, Idaho State University, USA
Lela 'Kitty' Pumphrey, Idaho State University, USA

SECTION II: CULTURE AND POLITICS IN ERP ADOPTION AND IMPLEMENTATION

Chapter VI. What Went Wrong? Lessons Learned from Studying ERP Implementation Across Cultures 87
Celia Romm Livermore, Wayne State University, USA

Chapter VII. Metaphorically Speaking, Does Culture Matter? 107
Jenine Beekhuyzen, Griffith University, Australia

Chapter VIII. Looking Back, Looking In and Looking On: Treading Over the ERP Battleground 123
Dave Oliver, Central Queensland University, Australia
Marilyn Van Dyke, Central Queensland University, Australia

Chapter IX. Exploring the Power and Politics of a PeopleSoft® Implementation 140
Cherilyn Randolph, University of Western Australia, Australia
Rebecca Main, University of Western Australia, Australia

Chapter X. Managing Complexity and Institutionalization: Power and Politics in ERP Implementation in an Australian University 160
Brian Corbitt, Deakin University, Australia
Konrad Peszynski, Deakin University, Australia
Olaf Boon, Deakin University, Australia

Chapter XI. Tales of Resistance in an Australian University 176
Matt Goodwin, Griffith University, Australia

SECTION III: INFORMATION SYSTEMS SUCCESS

Chapter XII. Evaluating the North American Pilot for SAP's Campus Management System 192
Kathryn F. Gates, The University of Mississippi, USA

Chapter XIII. Critical Success Factors for Implementing an ERP System 211
Jens Laurits Nielsen, London School of Economics, UK

Chapter XIV. Implementation Factors that Affect ERP System Success 232
Craig Chatfield, Griffith University, Australia

Chapter XV. Academic and Business Users: A Model of ERP User Acceptance 243
Nicole Mayer, Brisbane, Australia

Chapter XVI. Achieving Strategic Goals: The Role of ERP and the Influence of Use Quality 262
Michelle Morley, Griffith University, Australia

Appendix A: The Evolution of Enterprise Wide Systems within Australian Higher Education 279

Appendix B: The Griffith University Case 287

About the Authors 291

Index 299