It's not often within the Distance Learning industry that one manages to find a quality overview about Distance Learning technologies, distribution systems and content related support requirements all within one manuscript. Dr. Jolly Holden and Dr. Philip Westfall's new monograph entitled "Instructional Media Selection Guide for Distance Learning" is that rare find.

In a pragmatic and well-written description of appropriate challenges and choices for Distance Learning sources, the authors have created a quality paper based on sound Distance Learning pedagogical theories proven over time and ever ready for the future. This new USDLA publication is a must read for anyone interested in the field of Distance Learning as well as for any veteran of the industry.
