

Acknowledgments

This book is made possible through the help of many dedicated IT professionals who give back to the profession by helping with projects such as these. I thank them for their contributions. And thanks to my dear and trustworthy friends who, when called upon at the last minute, never cease to amaze me with their generosity of time and caring.

First of all, a very special thank you to a new friend and very able writer, Abbi Perets. May this be the second of many joint projects. A heartfelt appreciation to Dean Hardy, a long-time friend and fellow entrepreneur (okay, dreamer). May there be many projects ahead for us. The web site for this book is hosted thanks to Dean and the team at Grants Town, Inc. (<http://www.grantstown.com/>).

Some very dedicated professionals were the source of the Interview Encyclopedia: Don Bernard and the team at StarDot (<http://www.stardot.ca/>), Robert Witkowski, Mike Landau and the team at SetFocus (<http://www.setfocus.com/>), Roger Mincheff and the Space Dog team (<http://www.spacedoghouse.com/>), Ed Tittel and the LANWrights team (<http://www.lanwrights.com/>), Ali Pabrai, and Ryan Storgaard. Also a special thanks to Holly Ramirez, Ephrem Rufael, Randy McElroy, and Pete Orogas, key members of the New Horizons IT team who you can always count on.

The very able New Horizons instructors who saved the day with their contributions are Dennis Manning, Joe Petroski, Michael Keller, Carl Alessi, Larry Chisholm, and Ken Stechauner, along with the training manager of training managers, Susan Ford.

The interviews throughout this book were made possible by the folks behind the scenes at their organizations. A warm appreciation to Kiley Maitrott at Kelly IT Services, Eileen Townsend at Brainbench, and Keith Larman at Psychometrics, Inc., for making these interviews possible.

To the great staff at Osborne—Gareth and Jessica—and to the team at Happenstance—Laurie, Lunaea, and Maureen—thank you for making this project so easy and supporting me through the whole thing.

Last but not least, I am grateful for the support and encouragement of all my family and friends near and far. Mom, Dad, and Andrea—you're always in my heart. Mr. and Mrs. O, Maria, and Mary—thank you for allowing me to be a part of your family. And to the man who gets to live with me through these book projects—Pano, ILU always.

P.S.: Please support the organizations that made this book possible.
